ORDER OF DETENTION PENDING TRIAL

In accordance with the Bail Reform Act, 18 U.S.C. § 3142(f), a detention hearing has been held. I conclude that the following facts are established by a preponderance of the evidence or clear and convincing evidence and require the detention of the above-named defendant pending trial in this case.

[] (3) A period of not more than five years has elapsed since the (date of conviction) (release of the defendant from imprisonment) for the offense described in finding 1.

Written Statement of Reasons for Detention

I find that the accusations in the criminal complaint, the information submitted in the Pretrial Services Agency report, and evidence at the detention hearing establish by a preponderance of the evidence that no condition or combination of conditions will reasonably assure the appearance of the defendant as required.

I conclude that the following factors specified in 18 U.S.C. § 3142(g) are present and are to be taken into account:

1. Defendant is a 41 year old United States citizen. She has an unstable residency history. Defendant has a history of serious mental health problems, having been diagnosed with bipolar disorder, attention deficit disorder, and schizophrenia. Defendant also has a history of illegal drug use, and reported using crack cocaine continuously for eight days prior to her arrest. Her mother reported that she believed defendant would be safer in detention than if released.
2. Defendant is charged with hostage taking in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1203. She faces a potential penalty of up to life in prison. Testimony at the detention hearing indicated that defendant participated in the hostage taking activities charged by receiving money from hostages' relatives. After being questioned by law enforcement and released, she attempted to flee and was arrested after a search.
3. Defendant has a criminal record including a convictions for possession of a controlled substance, failure to identify a fugitive from justice, forgery, and prostitution. She previously failed to abide by the conditions of probation on a state drug charge and was sentenced to jail. She has used an alias.
4. There is no condition or combination of conditions of release which would assure the appearance of the defendant in court.

Directions Regarding Detention

It is therefore ORDERED that the defendant is committed to the custody of the Attorney General or his designated representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal. The defendant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity for private consultation with defense counsel. On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the Government, the person in charge of the corrections facility shall deliver the defendant to the United States Marshal for the purpose of an appearance in connection with all court proceedings.
